

Anthony Ling Obtains Summary Judgment in Construction Site Accident Case

Obtained summary judgment on behalf of a property owner/developer in a construction site accident case in New Jersey on the basis that it did not have any representatives on site and did not exercise any control or direction over how the plaintiff performed his work when he fell over the edge of the building and sustained serious injuries, and therefore, the defendant owner/developer did not owe a duty to protect the plaintiff from the very hazard he created in performing his contracting work.
