

Stephen Potako Successfully Defended Large Defense Contractor

Successfully defended a large defense contractor from a claim by a systems engineer of a back injury from a poor ergonomic environment. The Workers' Compensation Judge found that the employer established claimant's wage loss was due to discharge from employment for cause related to her mishandling of classified documents. The denial of the Claim Petition was affirmed by the Workers' Compensation Appeal Board.