Weber Gallagher Elects Four New Partners

Philadelphia, December 21, 2020 — Weber Gallagher today announced the election of four new partners, effective January 1, 2021. The new partners are affiliated with a cross section of the firm's practices.

"We are excited to elevate these talented and distinguished attorneys to the level of partner," said Andrew L. Indeck, chairman of Weber Gallagher. "Not only have these attorneys made a meaningful impact on their practices and demonstrated an unwavering commitment to their clients, and to the firm as a whole, they've done so while up against the unprecedented challenges that the world is facing. For these reasons and more, we salute them and look forward to their future success as an integral part of the firm."

The newly elected partners include the following attorneys:

Samantha Aster focuses her practice on premises liability, professional liability, product liability, trucking liability, toxic tort, and insurance defense litigation.

Peter D. Espey defends health care professionals and medical groups in medical malpractice matters and has experience representing hospitals, physicians, nurses, physical therapists, and midwives.

Alexander J. Papa focuses his practice on defending civil claims, including construction and labor law, premises liability, trucking liability, and property damage.

Scott Wilson has more than 20 years of experience defending employers, insurance carriers, and self-insured entities in workers' compensation matters.
