Alabama 16th Street Baptist Church Bombing Survivor Will Share Her Remarkable Story

Please join us to listen to the remarkable story of Sarah Collins Rudolph, often referred to as the fifth little girl, who survived the September 15, 1963, bombing of the 16th Street Baptist Church in Birmingham, Alabama, that killed four young girls including her sister, Addie Mae Collins, 14, and her friends Carole Robertson, 14; Cynthia Wesley, 14; and Denise McNair, 11. Ms. Rudolph was temporarily blinded in both eyes by the bombing. She has spent years recovering from her injuries. She has an inspirational story to tell, that has special meaning during Black History Month. Weber Gallagher and the firm's Diversity Committee are proud to host this true survivor and heroine.
