Commercial Transportation Group

The Commercial Transportation industry faces a complex set of state and federal regulations, economic-based operational challenges and the highest tort risk of any industry. Weber Gallagher's Commercial Transportation Group combines the experience and knowledge essential to assisting clients in this arena and can provide the immediate response that is so critical in catastrophic accidents. We handle matters involving tractor-trailers, straight trucks, motorcoaches, school buses and many other types of commercial motor vehicles, and are well versed in the state and federal rules and regulations governing such vehicles.

Our team of attorneys also routinely handle bodily injury actions, as well as, cargo and insurance issues that are unique to the Commercial Motor Vehicle industry. We have attorneys licensed in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and Delaware.
